Facebook Invests $5.7 Billion in Indian Internet Giant Jio

Excerpt from

https://www.nytimes.com/2020/04/21/technology/facebook-jio-india.html

Facebook on Tuesday made its largest single investment by putting $5.7 billion into Jio Platforms of India, an enormous bet on the developing market and a sign of how large tech companies are forging ahead in the pandemic.

"The country is in the middle of a major digital transformation, and organizations like Jio have played a big part in getting hundreds of millions of Indian people and small businesses online," Mark Zuckerberg, Facebook's chief executive, said in a post to his Facebook page announcing the deal.

The money from Facebook will help Reliance reduce some of that debt and invest further in its network, which it needs to do after regulators delayed approval of a high-profile $15 billion deal to sell 25 percent of its energy business to the Saudis.

Jio was founded by Mukesh Ambani, an industrialist who is India's richest man. Mr. Ambani has also been the most powerful corporate voice urging regulators to take an India-first approach that favors local companies and hobbles foreign firms like Facebook and Amazon. He has argued that the vast amounts of data collected by such firms should stay in India and be controlled by Indians.In the joint interview, Anshuman Thakur, Jio's strategy chief, and Mr. Mohan said the companies had different perspectives on some issues but added that would not preclude them from working together in other areas. "We will collaborate on some," Mr. Mohan said. "We will compete on many." Facebook's investment may help turn India's battered telecom sector into a duopoly.

Facebook sees plenty of opportunity with Jio. India is a large market for Facebook; more than 400 million people in the country use WhatsApp, its global messaging service, while more than 300 million people use the company's core social network.

Transformation - What is that?

There is a DEEPER space to operate from that not just opens the hearts and the mind, it goes into the world of Opening your WILL as a LIFELONG COMMITMENT to EVOLVE and Expansion of Self know that "You don't belong to yourself - You belong to the Universe"

This leads us to realise our LIMITLESS HUMAN POTENTIAL and stay in a powerful beingness that keeps us GROWING in life - in mind, body and spirit, TAKING ACTION TO add value to humanity at EVERY LEVEL of Growth for self and others.

This does not involve just getting into activities or doing meditations programs, etc. It is about getting into a space of Transformation with global mentors and teachers, who has been there and done that. We say, mentors who are an 'experience'. This can be in ONE community, OR as you evolve, creating your own community.

Just being in the presence of such global mentors will bring about deep healing and transformation at cellular level - causing generational shifts - integrating body, mind to the beingness, opening not just your heart and mind - It OPENS.

How do you know if you are into a Transformation Program - Process?

This Process supports in challenging our ego - our mind and our heart - our higher level of consciousness is evoked, and allows us to realise that our Transformation is in OUR HANDS and is a Life-long JOURNEY. We will allow to be support, knowing that its not a quick fix process. We start realising that being judgemental, getting upset/angry, revengeful, unforgiving and policing others is a very immature game. We are able to cope with drama in our life (personal or people around us) in a very effective loving forgiving ways. We start experiencing EQUANIMITY!

Mostly Interestingly, our intelligence steps up, we start attracting more likeminded people and become ALL INCLUSIVE in our life - A true integration of our right brain (creative mind) and left brain (logical mind) for a whole brain decision making capacity for amazing results in life..

Motivation can open your mind, inspiration can open your heart. When we stop there, this is when one feels being pulled back in life - not able to progress - come to a standstill OR we feel not fulfilled, lost of purpose (even in denial, in an artificial, egoistic way - not allowing ourselves to maximise our human potential - feeling contended) This is not about right or wrong. This is what it is.

Committing to a TRANSFORMATIONAL Journey opens your will - dissolves your belief patterns that don't serve you, this is deeper than any mindset shift, impacting at cellular level shift causing generational shifts, for the highest good of you, your loved ones, and our world.

Article by Dr. h.c. Azeeza Jalaludeen, Chief Mentor of GoGLOBAL Business School

It was a beautiful journey that started with CAE programme. The course material are excellent and I enjoyed every minute of it. The knowledge parted was so vast n selfless. With the hands-on assignments, during the 6 weeks, I generated 10x the money I invested. Taking one step at a time to make the foundation of my business strong and structured. I can't thank enough for creating Magic in my life

I must admit that my mindset about numbers and especially money shifted today. When I change my perception from "how many students will register" vs "how many people's lives I can impact positively", my heart feels at ease. When I work from this angle, it becomes easier for me to put a number. Thank you once again

THE CASE FOR GROWING WOMEN-OWNED BUSINESSES

Reaching an equal number of women-owned businesses and men-owned businesses could add S$95 billion to Singapore's economy — roughly 20% of gross domestic product (GDP). Approximately 120,000 new women-owned businesses would be value additive to the economy. Based on productivity data of the past two decades, analysis shows that every increase in the number of women-owned businesses results in an increase in growth. In scenarios where new women-owned businesses do replace men-owned businesses through buyout or competition, Singapore still benefits from a more competitive economy.

To help women-owned businesses flourish, and for Singapore to capture this substantial economic gain, actions are needed to remove barriers and build enablers.

"...equality must not just be formal, but substantive, and takes into account the unique challenges, needs that women face, and the specific effects that policies have on them, to truly level the playing field."

Mr K. Shanmugam Minister for Home Affairs and Law, Singapore

Health is Wealth Increasing Your Immune System

Slow, deep breathing technique increases PSNS (Parasympathetic Nervous System) activity. One of the best ways to turn down the stress response in the body and activate the parasympathetic response is to use slow, relaxed, diaphragmatic breathing.

#1 Box Breathing" - Breathe like a SEAL

Box breathing is a technique that helps you take control of your automatic breathing patterns to train your breath for optimal health and performance,"

All you need to do is picture a box with equal sides, where the inhale, the holding of the breath, and exhale are all four counts (four seconds approx.). "As you take in a breath, for four counts, visualize traveling up one side of the square. Next, imagine moving across the top of the square during the four counts of holding your breath. Then follow the breath down the right side of the box on the exhale and watch it travel across the bottom of the square on the breath hold, following the exhale. Repeat the pattern.

This visual provides a helpful anchor for your attention and quickly allows you to get into the flow of rhythmic breathing. When we box breathe, we do so through our nostrils. This helps us draw the air deep into our lungs, slowing down the breathing rhythm and stimulating the vagal nerve – which runs throughout the central nervous system. The vagal nerve affects heart rate, digestion and releases neurotransmitters that activate the PSNS. The calming and focusing effects of this technique are noticeable within just a few minutes of practice.
